Submissions

Submissions may be done by students enrolled in a Psychology PhD or enrolled in related fields or recent PhDs (with doctoral degree made in the last three years). II SimPsi will accept submissions for papers and posters. Submissions should be done by sending a written summary in APA style (American Psychological Association), 6th edition, to the following email address: simpsi@fpce.up.pt. The abstract should not exceed 300 words and should include the following information:

• Introduction, objectives, methodology, results and conclusions (do not include quotations nor references)

Submission can be done in Portuguese or English.

The scientific and organizing committees of the SimPsi have the right to decide the final format (oral presentation or poster), informing the participants in advance on the acceptance or rejection of the submissions.

Deadline for submissions February, 5

Guidelines for submissions

Title: Font Times New Roman, Size 12, bold, justify text

Name Surname[1], Name Surname[2], & Name Surname[1,2]

1. Affiliation A

2. Affiliation B

Email

Abstract: Authors should use this file as model for submissions for the I SimPsi Abstract Book. Font size 12. Simple line spacing. Justify text. No indented paragraphs. Page layout should be with 2.5cm. Abstracts should follow APA guidelines (6th edition).

Keywords: Maximum 5, Times New Roman, size 12, line spacing 1.5 justify, use semicolon (;) between words.

Abstracts evaluation

Revision process will be made by specialists and it will have the following criteria:

1. Inovation and relevance

2. Clarity of information

3. Concise and objective description

4. Adequacy of the used methodology

5. Adequacy of interpretation

Posters guidelines

All Posters must be submitted in vertical format A0. It should include: title, names and affiliations of the authors, a theoretical background , assumptions or investigation questions, methodology, results and conclusions .

The title should reflect the content of the poster and match the summary.

The presentation of posters will take up to 60 minutes. This time is dedicated to the display of the posters and the discussion with the authors.